Congress To-day.

SENATE .- On motion, the private calendar was postponed till one o'clock.

Mr. BOBLAND then, for nearly an hour, addressed the Senate in explanation of his conduct upon the subject of Congressional printing, in reply to an editorial article which appeared in the Union of Tuesday last, and in answer to statements made in debate by Messrs. STANTON and Gorman of the House of Representatives.

The Senate then took up the deficiency bill. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES .- The SPEAKER announced the first business in order to be on the motion, made vesterday, by Mr. PARKER, of Indiana, to lay on the table the report from the Printing Committee, which gives the reasons for employing the Union and the Republic newspapers to execute a portion of the public printing. The question being taken, it was decided in the negative-yeas 81, nays 86. The previous question was called and seconded on the propositions pending to refer the report to the Committee on the Judiciary, with instructions; both looking to the establishment of : national printing office.

Mr. GORMAN, having made the report, was entitled by the rules to close the debate, which he did in vindication of the action of the Committee

Whig Congressional Cancus.

The Whig members of the National legislature, we understand, will again convene in the Senate chamber on Tuesday evening next. The legitimate object of the proposed meeting is to recommend to the Whigs of the Union the place at which the National Convention shall convene, and the day upon which the said Convention shall assemble. This, we repeat, is the legitimate purpose of the contemplated meeting at the Capitol. No extraneous questions or side-issues-oalculated to distract or render inharmonious the business for which the meeting has been calledwill, it is hoped, be introduced at this meeting. The honorable members of Congress, in our humble judgment, should leave the patriotic and discriminating masses, and their enlightened delegates to the National Convention, to decide upon the plan of the campaign. and the erection of a political platform, if one is needed. With due deference to, and entire respect for, the Senators and Representatives of the people in Congress, we would recall to their recollection the fact that public sentiment—the PEOPLE-long since condemned and repudiated a Congressional caucus. The Congressional friends of that sterling man and lamented patriot, WM. H. CRAWFORD, utterly blasted that gentleman's prospects for the Presidency by caucusing in his behalf in the year 1824. This reminiscence, we trust, will not be unkindly received. History has been defined to be "philosophy teaching by example." It is the sincere wish of ardent, sterling, and orthodox Whigs that their interests may not be wrecked as were those of the friends of Mr. Crawford.

We heartily subscribe to the sentiments contained in a paragraph in the Alexandria Gazette, which we subjoin:

"We are very happy to believe that public opinion is beginning to manifest itself in opposi-tion to the continued interference by members of Congress at Washington with the approaching Presidential election. We refer to their caucuses, speeches, and wire-pulling. In their capacity as members they are to legislate for the country, and not to make Presidents. Out of the Capitol and as citizens, they have the same right as other citizens; but their official position should not be converted into a station in which to manufacture political capital for candidates. These gentlemen seem to suppose that they are managers of the election. We recognize no such right in them, and trust that the people will, at last, rebuke their officiousness in this matter. We want no 'Congressional dictation,' one way or the other.

Weakness of General Scott.

The Union of this morning republishes a late letter from the pen of Mr. Webster, and inquires whether "General Scott is willing, or can be made willing, to say as much over his signature?"

We entertain for the editors of the Union, and for all the members of the Democratic party, a great deal of good will, as we think in perfect unison with them whenever they think favorably of true Democratic principles; and therefore we shall give them the benefit of our wise advice upon a very important matter. It is this: as you, of course, wish to elect a Democrat to the Presidency, just remain quiet for a while respecting the Whig nomination; let the Whigs go blindly onward to the nomination of General Scott; conceal his weak points till then, or even pretend to fear his strength. Then, when you have fully entrapped them into the adoption of so vulnerable and unavailable a candidate, bring forth your heavy ordnance and annihilate him in a single volley! If, however, you persist in trying to rule him off, on the grounds of his weakness, there may be some folks wicked enough to suspect you of very great simplicity, or even of some little insincerity.

Now do thank us for this.

Mr. Joe Shillington has presented to us a copy of Godey's Lady's Book for May, containing 120 pages of letter press, and 13 embellishments-three of them magnificent. There is a fine variety of articles in this number.

General Winfield Scott left Washington this morning for New York, and is expected to return on Monday.

per It is quite a pleasant thing for an editor to look into the editorial columns of a newspaper for something to quote or comment upon, and to find instead his own articles therein appropriated. The thing is not unfrequent.

Politico-sanstory Reflections.

It is the unhappy tendency of many minds to become too deeply absorbed in any given question of momentous importance presented to them. A feverish, irritable, and incoherent ardor is produced, alike pernicious in its influences and profitless in its results.

The approach of a Presidential election has almost invariably been attended by an extraordinary development of this phenomena, and our ountry has suffered in consequence of it. Durng a few months preceding an election, business s in part forsaken; men are induced to change their habits of life; the isolated become gregarious, the temperate become convivial, the sententious become garrulous, the reverential become profane, the honest become gamblers, and the multitudes become boisterous.

A Presidential election is now near at hand; and as we are proof against this popular infection, it will fall within our sphere of duty to govern, guide, direct, and control the thousands around us. Let us, therefore, at this early day admonish all of the approaching season of danger, and beseech them to resort for safety and protection to the association and daily converse of the wise, tranquil, philosophical, humane, intelligent, and agreeable-to yield to the influence of such, and to use special precautions to avoid hose who exhibit the antagonistic qualities.

As a messenger of peace and good will, our paper will daily and weekly enter into many thousands of families in this District and the United States, and there can be no doubt that its influence for good will extend far and wide, and prove the means of preserving the happiness and tranquillity of many a home.

We knew long since that we had been preerved for the accomplishment of great good in this world; and the object of our particular mission is now becoming plainly manifest. Let us therefore remark, in this connexion, that new subscribers are coming in to us by scores, and that the affections of our heart are around them, and amply abundant to compass a few thousands

"San Jacinto!"

This name was very often pronounced in all the public places in this city yesterday, after Mr. Mangum's speech had been delivered. What does it mean? San Jacinto! What can it signify in connexion with that speech? San Jacinto! We do not know any one of that name, nor any place so called on this side of Texas. San Jacinto! San Jacinto! The words are on every tongue; and as people utter them it is with a ook of confident satisfaction-of proud triumph, ndeed, almost equal to that excited by the talismanic name of Scott. San Jacinto! The words of the great North Carolina Senator appear to be as powerful as the rod of Moses, and a new spring has welled up in the political world ere their tones have been borne away upon the air. Well, let San Jacinto be the cry, whatever its import. It is pleasing to the ear, and honorable for its associations!

Silver Coin.

The Pennsylvanian remarks that the idea of introducing a silver coin with a greater amount of alloy than that now in use is daily gaining favor. We hear from every business quarter a commendation of the project, and it is hoped that the measure will be speedily so legalized as to become a law. The scarcity of silver coin has been a subject of serious complaint for many years-owing, of course, to the large quantities which annually go abroad in commercial transactions. The only way to arrest the drain is to introduce the alloy, and thus increase the circulation at home without depreciating its value. Congress has this question now under consideration, and it needs only a business recommendation to induce them to order the coinage.

To Contributors.

In declining to publish a very large number of articles we now have on hand, we take occasion to say that, although we have often greatly disobliged ourselves for the sake of accommodating our friends, we can remember but few instances in which such obligations, fully acknowledged, were not entirely forgotten in the resentments produced by subsequent unavoidable refusals. Some of our contributors complain and remonstrate: we regret the occasion for this. Some of them are angry and indignant: they are at liberty to pursue their own course.

The Whigs in New York City.

We learn that, by invitation of the Whig General Committee, Hon. James C. Jones, of Tennessee, and Hon. Presley Ewing, of Kentucky, will address the Whigs of New York at the Broadway House this evening.

The Life and Services of General Scott. We presume no reader, whatever may be his political preferences, will regret our giving place in our columns to the sketch we republish of the life and services of this eminent citizen.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT .- We can scarcely see how the Democratic party, if true to itself and its principles, can fail this time to elect their candidate for the Presidency. The Whigs are divided .- N. Y. Star.

Compromise, my dear Stella-compromise is the word. If the Whigs only compromise a little they may lam you yet. Divisions used to be troublesome; but that was before the era of compromises. The age of gold, and the age of bronze, and the age of iron, and the age of cold water, are all in the background; and the age of compromise is here. Put not thy faith in princes' promises nor party divisions: they may all be com-

We are requested to state that Henry A. Naglee, recently convicted of transmitting false vouchers to the Second Auditor's office of the United States, and obtaining money thereon, was not a captain or officer in either of the Pennsylvania regiments, nor was he in any wise connected with either of them. It appears that, though a resident in Pennsylvania, he raised and commanded for a while a company from another State. There was a Captain Nagle in the First Pennsylvania Regiment.

The "Black Swan" has been singing at Detroit. The Free Press remarks of her that, in elemental music power, and in strength and breadth of voice, she has few equals. She is a curiosity; and has been heard and will be heard as such. She has a rich, melodious voice, and fails only in a perception and execution of the parts-in imparting eloquence to singing.

The Potomac Fisheries.

The Alexandria Gazette of this morning says: "The large supplies of herring from the Potonac Landings which have reached her the last few days have been taken by wagons, by canal, and by railroad, as soon as they arrived. Large quantities are carried up the Orange and Alexandria and Manassas Gap railroads."

Washington Monument.

The editor of the Raleigh (N. C.) Spirit of the Age says he has noticed with deep mortification that the National Monument to the honor of the ' Father of his Country" is dragging slowly along in the course of its erection for the want of means to push it forward to speedy completion; and that a friend has asked his opinion of the propsition to submit the question to the Sons of Temperance in the nation to raise the means to finsh it. If such a thing were effected, he replies, t would crown the Order with imperishable honor. At the lowest figure, there are 300,000 Sons of Temperance in the nation; ten cents from each would raise the large sum of $30,000! He asks: What do our brethren think of the proposition? What say the temperance press of he country?

We approve heartily of this proposition. The hing is entirely feasible. The Sons of Temperance in the United States can contribute ten cents year, and thus afford $30,000 annually to comolete the work; or they can with the same facilty contribute one cent a week each, and thus present an annual offering of $156,000.

Embarked in such an enterprise as collateral o their main purpose, their ranks would soon increase, and the work would be still further expedited, and would thus bless the primary cause for which they are organized.

We commend the suggestion to the Sons of Temperance of the nation; and, if found worthy, will go in among them as the earliest recruit enlisted under the influence of this new impetus.

Dramatic.

A writer has sent us a very favorable notice of Cinderella and the Two Bonnycastles, as played at the National. We omit the prosy part; but s we have a pretty large vein of poetry in our wn composition, we give place to the rhymes at the end, suggested on seeing "John James Johnson," alias Mr. George Jordan, in the character of the aforesaid:

> Three J's appear in this, Two ending with an N, The middle with an 8— Neither more, nor neither less

Yet true it is this combination Produced a very great sensation In this city of great renown, Known by the name of Washington: And that he who caused this fun May never by misfortune be undone Is from one whose wish Greatly enjoyed the glorious dish.

GEORGETOWN, D. C., April 14, 1652. Thar's a critique done into rhyme.

The excitement a dancing, singing, or ther sort of show-woman can produce in Philadelphia, New York, or Boston, is a subject of wonder to the rest of this universal nation. Statements," "cards," "notes," "letters," and "addresses to the public," are made by these poor women, and sometimes by men in the same pursuits, at once pitiable and ludicrous in their tone and temper. But editors will publish what the public wish to read.

Oh, what a glorious spring day is this! Thanks to the great GIVER!

Protection from Lightning.

Protection from Lightning.

The undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Spratt's Electrican and Electro-Metallurgist Lightness Lightness uperior Rods, of Sprial-twisted, Carbonized Annealed Iron, with Zine Protectors, and Electro-positive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with accurately-fitted brass-serew connecting joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame buildings; also, glass isolaters, of a novel and ingenious construction, (patented.) forming a lock; the whole mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented.) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most fragilitent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily attached. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetized points have shown but slight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, they gather and silently discharge electricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters patent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorized, or who are substituting inferior imitations. All agents duly appointed can show their certificates. Have good rods or none.

CHARLES W. HEYDON,
Washington City.

I do hereby certify that I have applied various powerful chemical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning-Roda, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most essential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of sodium, (common salt,) acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydrochioric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was very slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

JOHN LECONTE, Prof. of Nat. Phil. et Chem.
UNIVERSITY OF GA., October 8, 1850.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me,

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well calculated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly, Prof. ROBT. PETER. LEXINGTON, KY., February 20, 1850.

LEXINGTON, KY., February 20, 1850.

CHICAGO, September 3, 1850.

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, James Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficacy, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

for my inspection.

Prof. JAS. V. Z. BLANEY.

AUGUSTA, (Ga.) November 11, 1850.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Isolating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the metallic compound constituting the Points, as promising from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for years the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

A. MEANS,

Prof. Phys. Sc., Emory College, Ga., and Prof. Chem. and Pharm., Medical College, Ga. The Lightning Conductors put up by Mr. Henry M. Smith, of this city, on the plan of Mr. Spratt, appear to me to be very well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, are the heat 1 have a mercan recommend.

very well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, are the best 1 have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable.
